Ingredients:

2 tablespoons olive oil, divided
1 red onion, thinly sliced
1/2 teaspoon salt, divided
1 sheet frozen puff pastry, thawed
1 tablespoon all purpose flour
1 large egg
1 tablespoon half-and-half
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 tablespoon fresh lemon zest
1 teaspoon fresh tarragon, finely chopped
1/2 cup grated parmesan
1/2 cup grated Gruyère
1/2 bunch asparagus, (16-20 stalks)
    trimmed, halved lengthwise
1/2 teaspoon fresh black pepper
1/2 cup micro-greens for garnish

Directions:

1. Heat a large non-stick frying pan over medium heat. Coat the pan with 1 tablespoon of the olive oil, add the chopped onion. Sauté gently for about 30 minutes, stirring every 5-10 minutes, until translucent and beginning to brown and caramelize. Sprinkle with 1/8 tsp salt and deglaze the pan with a teaspoon of water to gather all the flavor. Set aside.
2. Preheat the oven to 400 degrees F. Prepare the baking pan by lining a half sheet baking pan with parchment paper. Roll out the thawed puff pastry on a lightly floured surface to approximately 10" x 15." Transfer it to the lined baking sheet.
3. In a small bowl, whisk the egg with half-and-half, add the nutmeg, lemon zest, and tarragon. Spread the mixture over the puff pastry leaving a 3/4" border. Scatter the caramelized onions, and parmesan and Gruyère cheeses evenly over the top.
4. Toss the cut asparagus with the remaining olive oil in a large bowl. Lay the asparagus stalks on top of the pastry sheet in a parallel fashion in a single layer. Season the top with the remaining salt and the freshly ground black pepper.
5. Bake at 400° F until the border of the tart turns a nice golden brown, about 20 minutes. Let the tart cool for 5 minutes, sprinkle with the micro-greens and serve.
